Celebrate safely this Easter weekend

The Easter holiday is an important celebration for many on the Tohono O'odham Nation. This holy day signifies hope and promise for Christians around the globe, and it has historical significance for many Tohono O'odham as we continue our own traditions and customs this time every year.

We know that after such a difficult year, so many of us are searching for those opportunities to be with friends and family. We encourage all Tohono O'odham to celebrate safely and responsibly this weekend, following health guidelines to ensure the safety of our fellow community members.

We are responsible for our neighbors, our friends, and our family. Let us all care for one another, especially on this Easter weekend where we rejoice in the love we share for our neighbors and the sacrifice by Christ.

We wish all tribal citizens a blessed Easter and we are hopeful that this holiday weekend will bring comfort and connection to everyone.
